Women's Vocational Training Center

Project for the Development of Women's Vocational Training Centers

The Thelo Center is a project of the Women's Vocational Training Center, which aims to provide vocational training for women in the province of Battambang. The center offers a range of courses, including sewing, tailoring, and embroidery, to help women develop skills that can lead to better employment opportunities.

The Thelo Center is located in the province of Battambang, which is one of the poorest provinces in Cambodia. Many women in the area lack access to education and employment opportunities, which can lead to poverty and social exclusion. The Thelo Center provides a space for women to learn new skills and build their confidence, which can help them break out of the cycle of poverty.

The center is supported by a range of partners, including the Ministry of Labour and Social Affairs, the Ministry of Women's Affairs, and the Ministry of Education. The center is also supported by a range of international organizations, including the Canadian government, which provides funding for the project.

In addition to providing vocational training, the Thelo Center also offers support services to help women access health care, education, and other resources. The center is an important resource for women in the area, who are often marginalized and excluded from mainstream society.

If you would like to support the Thelo Center, please consider making a donation. Your contribution will help provide women with the skills they need to improve their lives and contribute to the development of their communities.
